8 Ways to Link Your Students to

Lucy Scribner Library

LIBRARY INSTRUCTION

Bring your class to the library or invite a librarian to your classroom to introduce your students to all the resources they may need to become even more efficient and effective when gathering information for their research projects. To schedule a class, email your Subject Librarian or use this link:

SUBJECT/COURSE GUIDES

Don't have time to bring your class to the library for a visit, or are your students telling you they already know how to use the library? We can offer pointers and short-cuts through a custom-made research guide. Contact your Subject Librarian if you would like a specialized research guide created for your course or assignment.

RESEARCH ASSISTANCE

Subject librarians are available to meet students (and faculty) on a one-on-one basis for more in-depth research instruction. Students may make an appointment with their Subject Librarian or stop by the Research Help Desk located on the first floor of the library.

SEARCHMORE

The library's discovery tool, SearchMore, aids in finding sources across databases, formats, and disciplines, including full-text journal articles, books from the library's catalog, and more. It is accessible from the library home page.

INTERACTIVE TUTORIALS

Scribner librarians have created interactive learning tutorials to teach basic information literacy and research skills. Assign the tutorials and students can engage with the material at their own pace.

LIBRARY RESOURCES IN BLACKBOARD

A link to library resources (subject pages, research databases, subject librarian, etc.) will be automatically embedded in your Blackboard(Bb) course page. Contact your subject librarian for more information.

LIBRARY DATABASES

Are students "Googling" their way through research papers? Direct your students to search specific library databases instead with links to the databases you know and trust. It's simple! From the Databases A-Z list, copy and paste the URL into your webpage. These database links will work on-campus or off.

REFWORKS FOR CITATIONS

Link your students to RefWorks, an online citation management tool that will help them to collect, store, and manage bibliographic information in order to more easily prepare appropriately formatted bibliographies and in-text citations or footnotes. Helps to avoid plagiarism!
